CHINESE CANALS.

In the great Empire of China, notwithstanding the vast antiquity of her alphabet and records, the distribution of water by canals dates back into the fabulous period. Forty centuries of recorded history do not describe the methods first in use which even then were old. Chinese irrigation of to-day, though entailing enormous labor, yields three full crops a year and the soil asks for no interval of rest.

A thousand years before the birth of Christ, the Chinese record has it, the monarch Wou-Weng caused to be constructed hydraulic machines of simple design and working, which were successfully used for filling storage reservoirs, and as a consequence agriculture flourished. Some 800 years later, or about 250 B. C., the great Teheng-Ko canal was constructed to divert the waters of the King River, by which fully a million acres of arid land were made highly productive. This, Chinese history states, so increased the wealth and enriched the monarch that he was enabled to transform his kingdom into an Empire.

DURING his speech at Memphis, Tenn., President McKinley uttered the following eloquent words:

"What a mighty, resistless power for good is a united nation of free men! It makes for peace and prestige, for progress and liberty. It conserves the rights of the people and strengthens the pillars of the Government and is a fulfillment of that mere perpetuation for which our revolutionary fathers strove and for which the Constitution was made. No citizen of the Republic rejoices more than I do at this happy state, and none will do more within his sphere to continue and strengthen it. Our past has gone into history. No brighter one adorns the annals of mankind. Our task is in the future. We wave the old century behind us, holding on to its achievements and cherishing its memory, and turn with hope to the new, with its opportunities and its obligations. These we must meet, men of the South, men of the North, with high purpose and resolution. Without internal troubles to distract us or jealousies to disturb our judgment, we will solve the problems which confront us, untrammelled by the past, and wisely and courageously pursue a policy of right and justice in all things, making the future under God even more glorious than the past."

THE fiscal year ending June 30, 1901, promises to beat the record in the value of our exports. Last year they reached the enormous amount of $1,394,000,000, but the experts of the Treasury Bureau of Statistics are certain that will be largely exceeded this year and confident that the amount will go beyond a billion and a half dollars. At the close of March, the gain on last year was more than $86,000,000. In this year's increase the farmers of the country are the chief beneficiaries, their products showing a greater percentage of increase than those of the manufacturers, while last year and the year before the manufacturers were the largest gainers. With this showing, added to the fact that this government now owns more gold than it ever owned before and more than any other government in the world's recorded history ever owned, surely Republicans have a right to feel proud of their administration, their Congress and their party.

If the Democratic party had more men in its ranks of national reputation, capable of arousing any enthusiasm among the masses of the party, David B. Hill would not stand a ghost of a show for the Presidential nomination in 1904. As it is, however, the ex-Senator, being possessed of ability, adroitness, and some popularity, is mentioned as the coming man. Bryan is undoubtedly hostile to Hill, but not so much so as he is to any other prominent member of the Cleveland wing of the party. There are of course chances for other men to come to the front. Carter Harrison, Tom Johnson or even Gorman might make the race for the nomination with a reasonable show of winning. Bryan has turned out to be "not the man of destiny" and may be safely left out of the count although he has many enthusiastic friends still in his party.

SENATOR FRYE, who has just returned from a visit to San Domingo, where he went for a rest, said of the island: "We do not want San Domingo—not even as a gift. The natives think we do, however. They are suspicious of everything that an American does. It would be a good thing for them, but a bad thing for us, if we took over the country. The officials of San Domingo are a fine lot. There are ten in every place where one would be sufficient. They have no modern improvements and don't seem to want to advance."

SOUTH CAROLINA'S two Senators, Tillman and McLaurin, are doing the Killkenny cat act to perfection. Tillman denounces McLaurin as a "new-born Democrat of a hitherto unknown type" and McLaurin gets back at his antagonist with a metaphorical blow on the point of the chin. McLaurin's expansion views evidently irritate Tillman. Progress has ever been an excruciating irritant to old line Democrats.

The popular vote for McKinley in 1900 was 7,263,366; for Bryan, 6,415,387; McKinley's plurality, 847,979. The majority for McKinley in the electoral college was 137, which was the largest majority in any presidential election since 1868, except that of Grant over Seymour in 1872, which was 223.

X-Rays Curing Malignant Diseases.

The wonderful remedial power of the X-Ray has been demonstrated beyond question of a doubt throughout the civilized world within the past year, and scientists claim that it is the most wonderful discovery of the century. The knife and drugs are no longer factors in the treatment of these diseases, and subjecting patients to useless and cruel operations by surgeons must hereafter remain as a relic of a barbaric age.

The X-Ray, by its penetrating power, destroys the molecules which constitute the primary Cancer cells, where the life of this terrible disease originates. The X-Ray, being directed to the seat of the trouble, has the effect of drying up these cells, preventing its spread and ultimately killing the disease. Tumors of years' standing are treated in like manner, being dried up and eventually absorbed.

Consumption is no longer the terrible disease it has heretofore been regarded. The medical faculty of Paris, France, has fully endorsed the latest cure as specific. This latter treatment consists of the transfusion of microbe destroying X-Rays, being passed through the patient's chest and lungs. Sufferers will be happy to know that San Francisco possesses one of the largest X-Ray Laboratories west of Chicago, where men, women and children are being treated daily, and returned to the bosom of their families in health and usefulness.

French and German specialists of high standing are in attendance, and no charge is made for consultation. This X-Ray Institute, which offers such hope to suffering humanity, is located at 9 Mason St., in the Whist Club Building, San Francisco. By addressing the physician in charge all correspondence will be promptly answered and confidentially treated. 5-3-It.

Does not warm except through combustion. Food does not nourish except through digestion. You may as well hug a coal pile to get warm as expect to get nourishment out of food which is not digested. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition. It enables the body to assimilate food and so put on sound flesh and develop strong muscles. "The wise I would like to give you 'Golden Medical Discovery' I cannot utter in words or describe with pen," writes James H. Ambrose, Esq., of 1401 Broadway, New York, N. Y. "I was taken down with what our physicians said was indigestion. I doctored with the best around here and found no relief. I wrote you and you sent me a question blank to fill out and I did so and you then advised me to use Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I took three bottles and I felt so good that I stopped—being as I think, cured."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay cost of only 21¢. Send 21¢ in stamps for paper or 31¢ stamps for cloth binding, to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

THE X-RAY

Tells the truth

Don't depend too much on old-fashioned medical methods. Don't believe everything you are told. Lots of people are being treated for the wrong disease. Have X-Ray pictures taken of your internal organs, bones, joints, etc. You will then know the truth. Know exactly where and what the trouble is. Then your chances of being cured will be good. For a chance of good, reliable picture, call and see.

The evening was pleasantly spent by those present in singing, dancing and other amusements. Cake and other refreshments were served at midnight to which all did ample justice. Mrs. Thomas is an accomplished lady and leaves a large number of warm friends in this locality.

A social dance took place at the Tonzi ranch, near Ione, last Friday evening and was well attended by the people from the surrounding country. Good music for the occasion was furnished.

The "temple of knowledge" at this place would present a neater appearance if the Trustees would only give it a few coats of fresh paint. A well at the same place would prove very convenient. It is rather a hard task for the children to carry the water they drink half a mile up hill. Give them a well of water, Mr. Trustees, by all means.

WORDS OF WARNING.

There was a time, long, long ago, when schoolmasters placed "wise old saws" before their pupils. They were not artistically engraved and embossed to hang on the walls as a pleasing bit of color but were written at the top of the blackboard and changed every few months. No word was spoken concerning the lesson they would teach. It was not explained in many words of one syllable each. O no; each youthful eye was sure to wander from the book some time and with the curiosity of youth read what was written and ponder the meaning. Senseless some of them seemed at the first glance but those wise old teachers, college men most of them, knew right well that the curiosity of youth would keep the mind of youth busy until it was satisfied as to the meaning of what the eye had read.

One old proverb that used to adorn those old time blackboards was: "The river passed and God forgotten." But that was long, long ago, when the writer was young and foolish; so long ago that it seems the great majority of Jackson's citizens must have been yet unborn for surely they have never considered that proverb well or they would rescue themselves and clean their town.

Was not the smallpox warning enough that outraged nature would endure its fifth no longer? Must you wait O, ye foolish ones, until the Bubonic plague is in your midst?

Who owns the creek bed? Would it not be possible and feasible to bury one large sewer pipe in it and into that large one let smaller ones open carrying off the sewage from at least the greater part of the town. With such a fall as the creek bed has it would be a very simple matter to flush the sewer.

The filth that is daily emptied into creek and washed ashore is sufficient to imperil the lives and destroy the sense of smell of nine-tenths of the inhabitants. And you dwell in silence in the shadow of a greater calamity for "coming events cast their shadows before."

Why is the great dam above you being built of dirt and stones instead of solid cement? Is it that a counterpart of the Johnstown horror may adorn the pages of newspapers some years hence?

Suppose an industrious little gopher should tunnel through that dam. The great volume of water confined by it would do the rest and the dwellers on the mountain tops would have to conduct the funerals.

The voice of age is feeble. The counsels of the aged little heeded. But as life draws nearer to its close the eyes take a broader view of things and the mind takes on a more quiet humane reasoning concerning the duties each man owes his fellow-man.

Mining Evidently Pays.

A glance at the list of mine dividends for April in this issue should dispel any illusion that pessimists invent to create when they assert that "mining does not pay." A full list of dividend payers is impossible to obtain as many mining companies object to giving out any information regarding production or profits. This is notably the case in California where only a few of the many dividend payers are quoted. The Kennedy for instance never gives out information for the benefit of the State, although we know the mine paid about $2,000,000 in dividends up to the beginning of 1899, since which time we have no means of knowing what the profits from the mine are. And there are many others which withhold information so that we can only publish those which are obtainable. But as a comparison with dividends paid from other lines of business, the figures given in the mine dividend table present positive proof that mining as a business is profitable when conducted on business lines.—Mining Review.

Our Mines and Prospective Ones.

The producing mines along the mother lode in this county are paying regular dividends, and all of them have ore in sight. The outlook for years of regular production appears bright in each case. In the meantime, among which may be mentioned the Fremont and Gover, Bunker Hill, Lincoln, Mutual, Amador Queen No. 2, Peerless and Kirkwood. Mining, therefore, in Amador county is not only a year in and a year out industry, but a sure shot paying one at that, and what is true of this county is also true of other counties along the same lode. Deep mining is to become the watchword all along the line, for it is generally believed that rich treasure will be the reward of all who sink deep enough.
